Challenge

The Vox Conference Centre, at Resorts World, one of the largest leisure and entertainment centres of its kind in Europe, required doors that would contribute significantly towards hygiene for canteen areas, while satisfying fire and acoustic requirements.

“Every specification had to be made with fire safety and building efficiency in mind, for what is an extremely high traffic, cutting-edge conference space.

“All of our doors are aesthetically pleasing and offer a professional finish that exudes a high-end feel, in keeping with the Vox Conference Centre’s state-of-the-art facilities. Our Acoustic Doors are designed to resist sound up to 45 decibels, helping to control noise levels for events at the centre.”

Solution

A range of Powershield doorsets were supplied, including Steel Personnel Doors to offer strength and durability.

Powershield Fire Doors and Acoustic Doors were also installed into plaster stud walls; the doors were tested and Certifire approved for this wall condition. The doorsets were supplied with a polyester powder coated finish to improve durability and factory fitted with ASSA ABLOY hardware.
